Jane Gardner's latest novel, Thunder At One AM, is a poignant and unforgettable story about the complexities of love, loss, and redemption. The novel follows the lives of two families whose paths intertwine in the wake of a tragic accident.

The first family is the McNeills. John and Mary McNeil are a young couple who are struggling to come to terms with the death of their infant son, Michael. John is a successful businessman who is consumed by his work. Mary is a stay-at-home mom who is struggling to find her place in life after the death of her child.

The second family is the Parkers. Sarah and David Parker are a middle-aged couple who are facing the challenges of empty nest syndrome. Their two children have grown up and moved away, and Sarah is feeling lost and alone. David is a retired teacher who is trying to find new meaning in his life.

The lives of the McNeills and the Parkers intersect when John and Mary's car is hit by a drunk driver. John is killed in the accident, and Mary is seriously injured. Sarah and David are the first responders to the accident, and they are deeply affected by the tragedy.

In the aftermath of the accident, the two families are drawn together by their shared grief. They find comfort and support in each other, and they begin to heal their wounds.

Thunder At One AM is a beautifully written and emotionally resonant novel that explores the complexities of love, loss, and redemption. The novel's characters are vividly drawn, and their stories are both heartbreaking and hopeful.

Jane Gardner has written a truly unforgettable novel that will stay with you long after you finish reading it. Thunder At One AM is a must-read for anyone who has ever experienced loss or heartbreak.
